From the Slamdance Film Festival...

Co-stars Olivia Wilde and Shawn Andrews and director Tao Ruspoli from the new film 'Fix' FIX synopsis: FIX, shot in the first person by the actors in the film, takes you from Beverly Hills to Watts, and places in between, in one day, as documentary filmmakers Bella (Wilde) and Milo (Ruspoli) race to get Milo's brother Leo (Shawn Andrews) from jail to rehab before 8pm, or Leo goes to prison for three years. Inspired by true events, we follow the trio as they document their trip from a suburban police station in Calabasas through mansions in Beverly Hills, East LA chop-shops, rural wastelands, and housing projects in Watts as they attempt to raise the $5,000 required to get Leo into the rehab clinic. Along the way the audience meets dozens of colorful characters, each with their own anomalous perspective on Leo's larger than life personality and style, and each with their own excuse for why they cannot help out. In the end, it may take a drug deal to get the necessary funds for rehab

From this year's Sundance Film Festival, documentary filmmaker Marina Zenovich discusses her new film 'Roman Polanski: Wanted and Desired'.

ROMAN POLANSKI: WANTED AND DESIRED synopsis:

Marina Zenovich's new documentary examines the public scandal and private tragedy which led to legendary director Roman Polanski's sudden flight from the United States.
