Megalyn's Fashion Sense at Sundance This Week

Megalyn Echikunwoke gave some pretty good fashion advice while at the Sundance Film Festival in Park City, Utah this week. Some of the stars at the festival were asked about how they've managed to stay looking chic while braving the cold temperatures, whether it be for the lines to see the flicks, or getting into the posh parties.

Megalyn and her gal pal Olivia Wilde have the solutions. You can stay inside as much as possible, as Olivia stated, "...I don't plan on spending much time walking up and down the street if I can help it". Megalyn summed up with the best advice, saying, "You can either freeze and be cute, or you're warm and bulky".

They're both with their co-stars, showcasing their latest Tao Ruspoli film, Fix. You can see what Megalyn had to say this week about Sundance and their experience in their Sundance Buzz video interview here.
